Headline:
Unsettled weather from mid-week with heavy rain and damaging winds.

Today:
A fine and dry morning for much of the region, any frost soon thawing. Cloud in the north spreading to all parts, however most parts will stay dry with perhaps some brighter spells in the south. Maximum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Tonight:
Mostly cloudy with perhaps the odd clear spell in the south. Further periods of mainly light rain, especially in the north. Minimum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Tuesday:
Early rain clearing then Tuesday will be a mostly dry day but rather cloudy and just a few bright or sunny spells. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Turning very unsettled through the period with heavy blustery showers, or longer spells of rain. Strong to gale strength winds, especially on Thursday. Turning drier later on Friday.
